HARVEST THANKSGIVING AT ST. MICHAEL'S

The special Service for Harvest Thanksgiving held in St. Michael & All Angels' Church Sunday evening was an inspiring one, the rector dealing with the deep and more significant lessons to be gained from the development of the fruits and fulfillment of the promise— Seed Time and Harvest, etc.

The church was very attractively decorated.

The Rector took as his texts,— "While earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and day and night shall not cease" and "And on the top of the pillars was lily work; so was the work of the pillars finished." He introduced his topic with the history of the Festival of Harvest. He told briefly the story of the Israelites in Egypt where they changed their national characteristic from that of nomads with their flocks to agriculturalists. With the exodus under Moses the whole agricultural industry of Egypt was seriously upset. This new knowledge was carried to the Promised Land where the followers were enjoined to keep the Feast of Harvest. This Feast was to be a reminder that the Israelite was to guard against forgetfulness of God and the easy complacency of prosperity and plenty.

TheRector said that he did not wish to consider the well known lessons of Harvest but urged the people to think about them and implement them in their lives. Then he went on to explain certain other features of Harvest by choosing three couplets of virtues which he said were exlemplified by it.

Strength and Beauty, these features were early recognised by the Israelites, were used in the pil'ars Jachin and Boas, which meant "he shall make firm" and "In Him is strength" denoting the strength and stedfastness of God as an added extra the lily work and pomegranates adorned the chapiters. These features are found in harvest with the strength of the sun in the germination and the rainfall, the great strength lying behind the fields of grain and their beauty, a thing which because of our humanity we can appreciate. These two virtues shou'd be features of our individual and national life. While childhood undoubtedly is beautiful in its innocence, there is something even more to be regarded in the life which comes to the end of its days with a strong character, scarred with the struggle victoriously living Christ..

Tho second couplet was that Knowledge and Love. The eternal wisdom of God is seen in the ordering of the seasons, in His purpose of creation. The knowledge given to mankind enables him partially to understand His creator and he realizes that he is a God of Love. Harvest shows and reminds us of God's infinite Wisdom and Love and we realize that he is not distant from life.

The final couplet was Interest and Happiness. As we view Harvest we realize God's interest in man. The world was not created by God and then allowed to proceed in its own channels without any regard from its Divine Creator. Through His interest in us He desires that we should be eternally happy. Sin with its attendant suffering and the misery are not His will but the result of our freedom. He is personally interested in us and while He permits us to reap the results of our actions he draws us out towards a genuine happiness as against that which is self-centered.

Harvest is essentially a service of thanksgiving, and that is the main purpse of the service. The rector urged that we realize this fact and add to and build into our own lives the lessons of Harvest that we may more worthily walk in the steps of Jesus Christ and "that we may abide in Him and He in us."

The entire service concluding with the Pax Dei and the Four fold Amen was very fine.

Presentation To Lt. W. I. MacKenzie

During Lieut W. I. MacKenzie's short visit at home over the week-end, the School Board and Staff of the Strathmore School, took advantage of his visit to express to him their appreciation of his faithful services as Teacher for so many years and to show in a tangible manner, a measure of this esteem by presenting him with a handsome black leather Gladstone Bag.

Mr. S. H. Crowther on behalf of the members of the Board and Staff made the presentation saying they would be glad to welcome Mr. MacKenzie back to his old post when the words to "cease fire" are finally given.

Mr. MacKenzie very sincerely expressed his appreciation of the kind wishes and the gift, and hoped the day is not too far distant when the guns shall cease their firing.

This presentation was delayed by the fact that Lieut. MacKenzie enlisted in August when the teachers were absent on holiday, and this was his first visit home.

He left Tuesday morning for Brandon, where he is Artillery Instructor.

CURLERS ATTENTION

VICTORY LOAN PASSES HALF-WAY MARK

The Third Victory Loan now totals $4,116,250, which is over the half way mark in less than half the alloted time. Late harvest and slippery roads have held up the canvas to some extent in this district, but the committee has no doubt about reaching our objective.

Hitler is watching to see how Canada rallies to this Third Victory Loan Campaign.

BUY YOUR BONDS NOW

DO NOT WAIT FOR THE CANVASSER TO CALL

It is earnestly requested by the Victory Loan Committee that all those in town and those who may be in Strath more at any time during the balance of the Campaign and intend to buy bonds will they kindly do so by calling at the Victory Loan office, (Mrs. J. Freeman, Secretary) or they can arrange to get their bonds at the local branch of the Royal Bank.

Time is now getting short and although everything is being done to have Canvassers call at the homes of all in the district, if possible, due to the gasoline and rubber restrictions it is necessary to cut to the Minumum the mileage covered by the canvassers.

There has been a very satisfactory response so far but due to the fact that little, or no canvas has been made until Monday of this week , in the country points, owing to the delayed harvest, it is hoped that all those who can do so will act at once rather than wait for the Canvasser.

1800 Christmas Parcels for Canadian Soldiers Captured at Dieppe.

Every box contained three pairs of socks, turtle neck sweater, scarf, balaclava helmet, underwear, pyjamas, shirts, towels, shaving kit, hairbrush and comb, three handerchiefs, chewing gum and a comfort bag containing 14 items such as soap, tooth brush and other toilctries. Every item impregnated with love and longing from those at home which had been stitched into the garments and woven into the wool knitted by hundreds of kind hands in Red Cross groups throughout the Dominion.

In addition to the box of comforts, the Canadian Red Cross are providing 1,800 manacled men with cigarettes and foodstuffs. To give the Dieppe heroes alone that Christmas cheer has set back the Canadian Red Cross more than $25,000, but said Scott - "What does money count when the happiness of those grand is at stake."

As the Red Cross workers packed those 60,000 articles during the weekend the Bishop of Southampton, from whose diocese a historic expedition set out for Dieppe, was conducting in that famous church, St. Martin,s in the fields, under the shadow of Nelson's column, a service of remembrance for prisoners of war. As the church, full of two thousand prisoners' relatives, knelt in tearful prayer, 30 Re d Cross workers were coupling faith and work. And as the Bishop prayed - "God be with those in enemy prison camps, especially, those in chains." - the first carload of cases left Canadian Red Cross headquarters for the docks.

UNITED CHURCH SUPPER AND PROGRAM VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Annual Chicken Supper provided by the L. A. of the United Church again attracted a large number the long table being repeatedly filled.

The ladies upheld their well rited reputation for serving a bounteous and well cooked dinner and the tables with their bouquets of Autumn flowers and colorful salads looked very attractive.

Mrs. Harley Willson President o. the L. A. was convener in chief being assisted by the members of the Ladies Aid and a number of young girls as servitors.

Following the banquet the following program was given. The Scotch songs so well rendered by Mrs. Campbell of Calgary accompanied by Mrs. Gillespie and the beautiful films provided by Mr. McMurray with Anson Chase operating the lantern were the subjects of many favorable comments. We hope to see again sometime the lovely local scenes.

A recitation by Lois White, an amusing skit by Jennifer Boyden and Lois White and well rendered piano solos by Miss Georgia Chapman, and a short talk by Rev. W. E. Sieber were all well received.

The total of $82.00 was netted as a result of the dinner.

MAYOR MOORE

Canada's radio producing ranks are manned by noticeably youthful veterans of whom Mavor Moore is an outstanding example. He was born in 1919, but, despite his youth, his unusual gifts have brought distinction to the Canadian theatre, in the field of play writing, acting and directing. He has been identified for the past three years with many of the leading CBC war service feature broadcasts, under the supervision of J. Frank Willis, first as actor and in more recent months as producer. His most important assignment at present is "Comrades in Arms", the Friday night programme October 30th, at 9.15 p.m. CDT (8.15 p.m. MDT), in which the Canadian Army, the Royal Canadian Navy and the R.C.A.F. unite to tell the story of their endeavour.

THE 'OUT-SIDE'

● Price Ceiling Policy Succeeds—

"Let the record speak", stated Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in a recent address to the Maritime Board of Trade in Moncton, New Brunswick, incorporating a statistical review of the effectiveness of the price ceiling policy in his address. Mr Gordon indicated how the cost of living index increased 7.4 per cent in the ten months period prior to November 1, 1941, and was down to 11.0 per cent in the ten months following imposition of the ceiling policy. Increase in the cost of living in the same period during the last war was 15.8 per cent.

Giving specific instances Mr Gordon stated that the food index since the price ceiling went into operation shows an increase of 2.1 per cent, compared to a rise of 24.3 during the corresponding period of the last war. The price of sirloin steak, up 9.4 per cent since last November increased 19.4 per cent in the same period of the last war. Comparative prices in similar periods show milk prices held at less than 1.0 per cent increase, as compared with 9.8 per cent, bread, prices, now no increase, then jumped 30.3 per cent, bacon, 1 per cent increase, compared with 32.4 per cent in 1916 to 1917.

● Simple Styles Save Material—

New simplified styles of glass containers for jams, jellies, pickles and marmalade, will now save 3000 tons of glass and 100 tons of sheet metal annually, states the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Restriction will reduce the number of sizes from 20 to 10, and eliminate 134 different styles of containers.

The order applies to glass containers used in commercial canning, preserving and food processing industries, but not to glass products for similar use in the home.

Plain round jars, approved as to style, shape and quality, by the administrator of glass and glass products will be manufactured after the end of 1942.

● Warning is issued that it is a serious offence not to comply with regulations requiring that the name of the owner and registered address of the truck be painted on either side of the truck body in letters and figures an inch high. A check is to be made shortly to make sure that these orders are being observed.

● Alberta's honey production will be lower by 15 per cent than that of 1941, despite an increase of 25 per cent in the number of hives kept, the reason being the continued cool wet weather of the season. Much interest has been taken in honey this year because of its use as a substitute for sugar.

● Junior Farm Clubs National Contests—

The 1942 annual national contests for junior farm clubs under the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work will be held at Toronto and Ottawa from 2nd to 6th November, inclusive, when the club teams representing the various provinces will meet in contest for the Dominion championships. The projects, which include dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain, and seed potato, are similar to those of 1940 and 1941.

HOMEY HOMILY

— BY A SKY PILOT —

OUR QUIET MOODS AND HOLIDAYS—

Talking to a friend of mine about the recent cut in gas allowance he volunteered this confession— "Do you know I've found this summer when I tried to help the country's war effort and didn't drive so much on Sundays and holidays that I felt much better. My days have been more quiet and restful."

I knew what he was talking about. The speedy automobile has increased the tempo of life. Continual hurry and speed have robbed us of the ability to really live. Life, deeply conscious life, cannot be found in moments of haste. It must be found in quiet, restful meditation. Nor is haste and speed any necessary sign of progress. More frequently it destroys one's ability to make real progress. For the real progress of life arises from a profound consciousness of our union with the Divine purposes of God for our own life. Once the individual soul has achieved unity of purpose with God's plan he becomes conscious of that new life which is spoken of as "God in the soul." But this state can only be attained by quiet, restful meditation which is often called "private worship."

Men oftimes say to me: Oh, I can worship God with greater reality by spending my Sundays and holidays in God's great outdoors rather than by being cooped up in a hot, stuffy Church."

I can appreciate that possibility, but cannot help asking : "Is it done?" The world certainly needs to get back to God and anything which brings the individual back to God is all to the good. The world can only be saved by being brought back to God, - There is no other way in which civilisatio n can be saved from its own terrors.. We did not save civilisation after the last war because we separated ourselves from God immediately after the war was won. Without God the world has hasted on towards its own destruction. War itself can save nothing, its nature is only to destroy and destruction is never salvation. Destruction and salvation are two opposing forces in this world.

It was in the fall of 1929 that I made the chance aquaintance of a well-educated young man from Switzerland who was touring Canada. Despite some difficulties with languages we managed to get on in our conversation. when he learned that my calling was that of a Sky Pilot he said to me: "Young Switzerland and most of 'Young Europe' does not go to Church any more. They seek God in nature."

I asked him to tell me more about it. I was interested in the technique which they had planned to use. The manner in which they carried out this "search for God."

The gist of his reply was not unexpected. They simply organized "hiking parties" on Sundays and holidays,sang folksongs, generally boisterous ones, along the way, talked loudy and unrestrained and wound up in a 'Beer Garden' telling questionable stories. He admitted readily that it really signified a spirit of rebellion against all old ustoms and that the "idea of seeking God in nature" was either self-deception or pure hypocracy.

Again I asked: "Is there not a danger that such an attitude will lead either to revolution or to war?"

His reply rather astonished me: "Oh everybody expects THAT to happen!"

The earlier part of my life was lived in the rugged hinterlands of old Ontario. Our farm was cut off by a river which overflowed its banks every spring and cut us off from town for a short period. On such Sundays as we were barred from Church and Sunday School we went into the woods when the weather was favourable. Father took us and he was a Past Master in the art of directing our attentions to the beauties of nature and help us to feel that God was revealed in this.The marvel of the beauty of the insect's or butterfly's wing; the song of the bird, the loveliness of the flower - all these proclaimed God's love to him. Then we would sit down and he would lead us into God-consciousness. We learned to find beauty in life and nature and this made life a sacred thing.

Here, too, we found the deeper meaning and heard God's voice speak to us in the marvels and miracles of nature. I began to see nature as one of the manifestations of God Himself. Something after the manner of the psalmist I began to "considerGod's handiwork." This deepened my joy and faith in life.

Better still, I began to know how to find God. He came to me in quiet, restful meditation and in the contemplation if His Handiwork. These things are usually negated in our hurried nerve-wrecking drives over the countryside on Sundays and holidays. I learned the meaning of the Scripture which says: "Be STILL and KNOW that I am God."

And so the loss of gasoline may help us to recover the lost art of meditation and the strength of character that goes with it. It may help us to restore and open up the deeper wells within ourselves that have been choked up too long. It may make us once again aware that we are God's children and that there can be no other joy so deep as the joy Jesus spoke of under the shadow of the Cross. We may find a fountain of life so deep no sorrow could stop its flow of joy. The joy of holding communion with God in our souls, whatever the outward conditions of life may be for us. "In Quietness shall be your strength" is still true.

Next week we will dig deeper into the choked well of our fathers and tap the pleasures found within our own communities.

What did your father say about you smashing up his car?

Shall I leave out the swear words?

Certainly.

Then he didn't say anything.

This is YOUR Fight FOR Life...

Don't think this war can't be lost ... it CAN.

Make no mistake about it ... the Axis wants you for a slave like the French, the Czechs and Greeks. The Huns and Japs will stop at nothing to gain their objective. They intend to win this war.

For many years they prepared ... they are ready to fight for many more.

France felt safe when war broke out. Remember the Maginot Line ... yet in seven short weeks all was lost.

Some say Canada is safe behind the oceans that wash her shores. Make no mistake about that, either—Singapore was counted impregnable—now the Japs have it. And nearer to our shores, the Japs have occupied the Aleutians. In the Atlantic, Canadian ships are being sunk and our sailors lost within sight of our own land. The war already is on our doorstep.

Remember: Canada — with her great natural resources — is a prize worth more to the Axis than all the conquered nations combined.

This war will not be won until every Canadian is working and giving till it hurts—till every Canadian rolls up his sleeves and fights ... with his good right arm—with his working energy—with his dollars. We need more planes, more ships, more tanks. We must have them quickly—more and more of them. That means money and more money. It means that every red-blooded Canadian will dip into his savings and future earnings and buy Victory Bonds.

Don't say "I can't afford it". We've just got to afford it ... every one of us—by doing without. The price of victory will be high ... the price of defeat infinitely more—complete economic ruin for Canada—abject poverty for every one of us—slavery, stark and unadorned.

This is YOUR fight for life... fight for all you're worth by lending all you can.

When You Buy YOUR Victory Bond ...

- you are staking your claim to Victory and personal freedom
- you are investing in the safest security in Canada ... your investment is the country itself
- you are building a nest-egg for the future ... to buy the things you want when Victory comes
- you are making your money earn interest at a good rate
- you are justifying your existence as a worth-while Canadian

Buy VICTORY BONDS

for security now ... and in the future

NAMAKA

By M. W.

Mr. and Mrs. John Toews and children have moved to Coaldale where he is engaged as one of the teachers in the Bible School.

Pte. Ernest Wilson spent ten days leave here. He has been stationed at Kingston Ont. but has now been transferred to Ozada, Alberta and left for there last Monday.

Mr. Otto Wheeler was taken to the Hospital Sunday afternoon suffering from severe boils. We hope for a speedy recovery.

The Red Cross meeting was held at Mrs. Tomporowskis' home. The attendance was not large on account of the busy season. The important part of the business was arranging for the supper to be held on Nov. 18th. The articles sent to headquarters for this month are 6 comfort bags, 2 pr. gloves 1 sleeveless sweater, and 1 turtle-neck sweater.

United Church service will be held in Namaka School on Nov. 1 at 11:30 a.m. to which all, especially young people, are invited. In connection with the service there will be lantern slides along with the story "Better Ways of Living for Africans."

First Motorist— I love the beauties of the countryside.

Second Motorist— So do I. Here's one coming now; let's give her a lift.

STRATHMORE'S NIGHT WATCHMAN

Strathmore would be much the better for a night watchman.

Let us not be penny wise and pound foolish. Surely it is the wise policy to be safe guarded rather than run any risk of fire or other unhappy accident, and have regrets after when it could and should have been prevented.

We repeat our formerly stated plan; that the salary of this official should be paid from the town taxes, not paid by a few business men. If the Town Council is not numerically strong enough at the moment to decide, a petition could be circulated among the taxpayers of the town.

Let us act on the wisdom of the adage — "A Stitch in Time "etc.

"That's a fine girl you've married," said the old friend.

"Yes," said the angler absentmindedly, "but you should have seen the one that got away."

WE CAN DO MORE?

EDITORIAL FROM THE
LIBERTY MAGAZINE
OCTOBER 31st. 1942.

A little less than two months ago Canadians felt the first sharp personal impact of the cost of war in taxes that, a few years ago, would have been considered virtual confiscation. There is little doubt that most Cnadians, whether through taxation or enforced saving, in this small measure are giving until it hurts. Now we are told that direct taxation of this sort has gone about as far as it can go and that further war costs can be met only by further voluntary saving. That is the challenge that faces us - whether, having done so much, we will fail now of that full measure of devotion that alone can bring victory. It is for us to say whether we, the people of Canada, with no compulsion upon us, will go this last mile and make this present loan for victory an overwhelming success.

We have not been niggardly so far in this war. We thought that in the last war we had done our utmost. We, a peaceful people, had created an army of more than 600,000 men and had shown that in an emergency peaceful people can achieve unbelievable heights of courage and daring and devotion.

When, in 1939, the peace of our world was threatened by a still more desperate menace, we laid down our tools again and, again a peaceful and unprepared people, girded ourselves for war. For this new and more complex type of war, a war of machines as well as men, we were still more unprepared. We had almost no trained men, and fewer weapons, and almost no resources for making them.

In the three years that have passed, the nucleus of 4,500 trained soldiers has grown to 350,00. The shoulder badge of Canada has been familar in Britain and Hong Kong, on the bloody beach at Dieppe, in Newfoundland and Iceland and Alaska.

From 4,000 men the Royal Canadian Air Force has grown to 125,000 men and they are fighting almost anywhere that men are fighting in this war. Canada is the very hub of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan. A country that could not by the remotest stretch of the imagination have been called airminded has voluntarily obligated itself to almost a billion-dollar outlay for that great undertaking.

In 1939 we thought of our Canadian Navy with patronizing smiles. Now that has heroically demonstrated its qualities we do not smile at it any more. It keeps open the sea lanes in the most dangerous waters of all the earth, not now 1,800 men and fifteen ships, but 41,000 men and 500 ships.

We peaceful Canadians have adjusted our ways to war. So far we have delivered more than five billion dollars' worth of equipment and munitions of war. We have taken from their peaceful tasks and put into the armed services 550,000 men and women. We have taken 906,000 men and women into some form of war production, almost a million men and women working long hours in factories, turning out weapons of war and munitions to serve them so that we Canadians who have been proud of our word, may faithfully keep the promise that weapons from Canadian factories will be sent wherever the hands of free men are ready to use them.

Now, having gone so far, we are faced by this new challenge. Will we of our own free will go the second mile or will we say to those who did not return from Dieppe or Hong Kong, "I cannot do any more than I have done; the government has taken from me everything that I can spare?" Or can we argue, "I don't like what the government is doing, so I am not interested in their loan?" Or, again,"Forget it. I'm trying not to think about the war?"

We can say these things to our shame, or we can hold our reads high and say "You can count on me to help see this business through. Nothing matters now but victory.

Jim Says

IT CAN BE DONE

Jim finds times hard. His standard of living has dropped. There are all these new taxes.

Now there's another Victory Loan and Jim is expected to subscribe.

"Rock bottom!" was Jim's first thought. "We're on rock bottom. Just can't find the money!"

He's thought some more since. And he's decided it can be done. Jim says he doubts if Merritt lost much time wondering if it could be done when he crossed that bridge at Dieppe.

● Egg contracts to Great Britain have meant that the only eggs in storage are frozen or short held eggs going to the drying plants. The drying plant in Calgary has been in operation for about one month, and it is expected that the Edmonton plant will be in operation about November 1st. Once these drying plants are operating efficiently and at full capacity it will mean all eggs for Britain will be dried shortly after being graded, and will thus save on the extra handling that took place this year. It will also mean releasing a lot of storage space for other food commodities. The domestic demand is considerably above supply, so that top grade fresh eggs are at ceiling prices. It is anticipated that the new contract with Britain will be at prices that will give the poultryman equal profit t that obtained during the past year, as it is expected that extra costs will be taken care of.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

By DAN. E. C. CAMPBELL
Director of Publicity

Broad smiles were seen in Victory Loan Headquarters here this week when it became known that the Alberta Government purchased $4,000,000 worth of the new stock. Of this sum $2,000,000 was allocated to Edmonton's quota, and the other half to the province at large. Making the purchase on behalf of the province, Hon. Solon E. Low, Provincial Treasurer, said that "The government feels that the purchase of victory bonds is the best possible investment it can make in the future of the country. He recalled that two earlier purchases of one million dollars each had been made, bringing the total to $6,000,000 now bought."

Premier Aberhart opened a new series of broadcasts Thursday of this week with the declaration that "silence is no longer golden." BOYHOOD JOYS

Little drops of pleasure, little hunks of joy,
Reach me from my childhood when I was a boy;
Running through the meadows, chasing butterflies,
Hatless and bare footed 'neath the summer skies.

Visiting my grandma on her dear old farm,
Swimming in the old pond when the days were warm;
Chasing through the orchard 'mongst the apple trees
Fishing in the river wading to my knees.

Swinging in the garden, hung from maple boughs,
Playing with old Rover, going for the cows;
Sometimes riding horseback down the village street,,
Jumping in the hay mow, thistles in my feet.

List'ning to the birds sing, perched in tall elm trees,
Lying in some shade-spot cooled by summer breeze;
Wishing I was older, grown like great big man—
Now I wish those child-joys would come back again.

EDUCATION AND RELIGION

By Dr. R. C. Wallace, Principal of Queen's University and former President of the University of Alberta.

Thoughtful people have become seized with the conviction that education and religion cannot safely be divorced. The one should embrace and include the other. In our altogether praiseworthy precautions, as Protestant peoples, to divest ourselves of even a semblance of authority on the part o fany church over the educational system, we have fallen into the other danger of separating formal education almost completely from religious influences. Education, in becoming secular, has discovered that it is non-religious.

This fact might have passed almost without a protest but for the war. In those dark days when Dunkirk had fallen, and the very existence of the British people was in hourly doubt, the feeling grew into prayerful utterance that God was our only refuge. The pomp and circumstance of life fell into the background as utterly insignificant. The enternal values stood out as the only real things for which man lives. It was of this conviction, universally experienced, that the urge has come to draw closer to the verities of religious truth and religious experience. Across the country in Canada, in the United States, and in Britain itself, the discussion is going on as to the wisest way by which religious teaching can be introduced into the schools and colleges. The time is ripe for a great forward movement.

Without entering into details as to the procedure, one may postulate two convictions which should wisely be observed. The first is that all the Protestant churches and sects, without exception, sroild combine in this work If an acceptable body of material for the schools cannot be agreed upon, the leaders of the churches would be placed under the most severe criticism at the bar of public opinion. But I am convinced that there is wise statesmanship in the churches to achieve this end. The second is that the teachers of the schools — specially selected where necessary —should be the instructors in this field. They have learned the art of teaching, they have the confidence of their pupils, and they are, generally speaking, of deep religious convictions. Under these conditions there will be a notable advance in Christian Education.

"Now WE hold a Mortgage on Canada Ma!"

"Sure we're working harder than ever—but that never hurt anybody. We're working longer hours and putting our money away in Victory Bonds. Now we'll be paid interest instead of paying it.

"When peace comes we'll have money saved to buy new equipment for our farm—might even put up a new barn—maybe take a holiday!

"Meanwhile, we can't think of any safer or better place to invest our money than in bonds backed by our country. And we can't think of any better purpose than helping our fighting boys get the jump on the enemy. When we read about our lads bombing Germany, we can think that maybe we raised one of those bombs on our own farm.

"So that's our plan from now until peace comes. We will work to save and lend. We'll have it to spend later. And we can look forward to getting that new tractor and that fine new automobile we're saving for now."

"We'll be laying up for ourselves the best of all investments—VICTORY BONDS—backed by all the resources of the Dominion of Canada: they yield a fair rate of interest; we can borrow against them; and they are readily saleable when we need cash!

SUNSET

I cannot see a sunset, blaze
Across the golden west
Without I also see a king
In splendour laid to rest—.

A mighty king whose retinue
With glory fills the skies—
But while I watch, like earthly joy
The glory fades and dies.

In every cloud I see a form—
Of creatures small or great,
And wonderous things they show to me
If I but watch and wait.

But while I gaze with dazzled eyes
And thrill with grief or mirth,
They turn to grey clouds in the skies
And I return to earth.

And so dear reader you will see
In this a truth is found,
My fancy soars untamed and free
While I to earth am bound.
